Views:

- CPI breached RBI’s tolerance level after remaining within the limit for two consecutive months. Even though the lower base came into effect, the increase in CPI was more than expected.
- Food and beverages, which accounts for 45.86 per cent of CPI basket, rose to 6.19 per cent in January 2023 from 4.58 per cent in the previous month.
- Inflation in Housing, another major component of CPI, climbed to 4.62 per cent in January 2023 from 4.47 in December 2022.
- Two components, Clothing & Footwear and Fuel & Light, showed a declining figure, when compared with the previous month.
- Even though core inflation is likely to remain sticky, it is expected that CPI will ease slightly due to fall in food prices in the current month and relatively higher base.
- The recent rate hike by RBI is thus justified by the unexpected rise in the Retail inflation and we may further witness another hike in April 2023.
